Sudan Conflicts (1955 -)

Agreements relate to several distinct dyads, and also the negotiated independence of South Sudan, and subsequent internal conflict in South Sudan. Sudan-South Sudan. The long-standing conflict between the north and the south of the country dates back to colonial times, where the British introduced a so-called 'Southern Policy', severely hampering population movements between these big regions. Immediately after gaining independence in 1956, southern movements started to fight for independence; this fight became professionalised in 1983 with the foundation of the soon internationally supported Sudan People's Liberation Army (SPLA). When the Islamic Front government introduced strict sharia laws in the south after it took over power in 1988 the war intensified. A decade later, the military situation reached a stalemate, enabling internationally facilitated peace negotiations to begin in 1997. After more fighting, a final negotiation push began in 2002, leading to the signing of the Comprehensive Peace Areement (CPA) in January 2005.

Sudan-South Sudan post referendum. South Sudan became independent in July 2011; since then, relations between the two countries are complicated and violent conflict led by the SPLM (North) in the Sudanese Nuba mountains region has since intensified.

Darfur. Other long-standing violent conflicts are in the east and the west of the country. In the east, the Beja Congress, established in 1957, is the spearhead of a currently 'peaceful' opposition movement. In the west, the violent conflict in Darfur intensified in the early 2000s and rapidly gained international attention, even resulting in genocide charges against leading figures of the Sudanese government. The situation on the ground is complex, with over a dozen organisations (most notably the Sudanese Liberation Movement and the Justice and Equality Movement) fighting the Sudanese government and allied groups like the Janjaweed – although all parties have switched sides on numerous occasions. Several mediation attempts have not been successful, due to the shaky commitment of the Sudanese central government and the distrust among the armed opposition.

South Sudan - internal

In December 2013, after president Salva Kiir accused opposition leader Riek Machar of attempting a coup, violent conflict broke out between government forces of the SPLM/A and anti-governmental groups. In addition, several other political militias as well as communal militias have joined the conflict. In 2015 the Agreement on the Resolution of the Conflict in South Sudan (ARCSS) was signed. Due to unsuccessful implementation the agreement was revitalized in 2018. In September 2019, Kiir and Machar agreed to establish a power-sharing government after struggles on forming a unity transitional government.

In accordance with the Nuba Mountains Cease-Fire Agreement, signed on 19 January 2002, the Government of the Republic of Sudan (hereinafter referred to as the GoS) and the Sudan Peoples' Liberation Movement/Nuba (hereinafter referred to as the SPLM/N) have requested the Friends of Nuba Mountain Group of nations (FNM), as an impartial third party, to organise, equip and establish an international mission, named Joint Monitoring Mission in the Nuba Mountains area of The Sudan (hereinafter referred to as the JMM), identical to the international components of the Joint Military Commission/ International Monitoring Unit referred to in the Cease-Fire Agreements, of art. VII and VIII (cf. Annex C), to monitor the implementation of the Cease-Fire Agreement.

The GOS and the SPLM/N have stressed the importance of international monitoring of the Cease Fire, expressed their willingness to facilitate and support the establishment and administration of the JMM, and have also guaranteed their cooperation with the JMM.

Based on the Cease Fire Agreement and the above mentioned, the GoS and the GoVernment of the Kingdom of Norway have concluded a Status of Mission Agreement (hereinafter referred to as the SOMA), in which status, privileges and immunities of the JMM and its members are defined and determined. The SPLM/N has in writing declared its commitment to fully implement all parts of this SOMA.

Page 1, Article 2, The Mission

- 1. The premises of JMM shall be inviolable.
- 2. The JMM's property and assets shall be immune from search, requisition, confiscation and expropriation.
- 3. The archives of JMM and in general all its documents in paper or electronic form, including audio- and videotapes, shall be inviolable wherever located and by whomsoever held.

Page 2, Article 2, The Mission

- ... 4. JMM's property and assets shall enjoy immunity from any form of legal process except:
- (a) In so far as in any particular case it has expressly waived its immunity. It is, however, understood that such waiver of immunity does not extend to any measure of execution.
- (b) In the case of a civil action brought by a third party for damages arising from an accident caused by a motor vehicle belonging to or operated on behalf of the Mission.
