Niger: local conflicts (1980s - )

The conflict between the Fulani community and Mahamid Arab community were instigated by disputes over access to natural resources in the region of Diffa, in south-eastern Niger. The Mahamid Arabs had settled in Diffa from Chad in the 1970s to flee from draught and in the 1980s following an armed conflict. Disputes with the Fulani pastoralists included access to water points, land use, and animal grazing rights. Tensions over resources have become more urgent given the emergence of Boko Haram across the borders of Diffa, resulting in vast forced displacements of its neighbouring populations from Libya, Mali and Nigeria into the region. This has aggravated existing intercommunal tensions and has proved to be fertile soil for the organisation of militias. In 2017 the government declared a state of emergency in Diffa.

Description

Communities in Ouallam, southwestern Niger, have sealed a peace agreement to address the conflict in the Tillabéri region. Facilitated by the Centre for Humanitarian Dialogue (HD), the accord focuses on displacement, resource sharing, and oversight. The conflict was fueled by resource clashes and regional armed confrontations.

Local agreement properties

Process type	Formal structured process
Rationale	There is a dedicated body supporting the local agreement, therefore it is a formal structured process. There is a monitoring committee to support implementation of the agreement that has been set up (Article 8), to represent all the Zarma, Peulh, Haoussa, Tamasheq, and Arab Communities. This monitoring committee is supported by the Centre for Humanitarian Dialogue (2023).
Is there a documented link to a national peace process?	No
Link to national process: articulated rationale	There is no national level peace process in Niger (USIP 2023).

Grievance List

Preamble

Aware that the conflict opposing our communities since 2017 is a result of the global security crisis affecting the northern part of the region of Tillabéri and the consequences of the Malian crisis of 2012;

Recognising that jihadist groups recruit from all communities and that stigmatisation of one community alone is source of division and even conflict between the communities:

Recalling that mediation efforts have sought to include community leaders, religious leaders, representatives of women, the youth, self-defence groups, the diaspora and regional and local authorities (governor, prefect, and mayors), of the Department of Ouallam and resource persons working for peace, social cohesion and development;

...

Causes and consequences of the conflict

...

The conflict has resulted in:

- a) Repeated attacks on villages and hamlets, lootings and destructions of property by armed individuals;
- b) Targeted assassinations of influential figures and notables;
- c) Massive livestock thefts;
- d) Attacks and ambushes on vehicles;
- e) Embargoes on some villages and weekly markets;
- f) Closure of basic social services (schools, health centres, etc.);
- g) Withdrawal of government officials and defence and security forces;
- h) The feeling on both sides that the neighbouring community is joining forces with armed groups to attack the other;
- i) Perception of partiality from the defence and security forces;
- j) Lack of justice following abuses;
- k) Erosion of social cohesion and coexistence between our communities.

Cattle rustling/banditry
